

Digging through the Ages with Coding

"Digging through the Ages of Code is an exciting summer camp for elementary students that merges the wonders of dinosaurs, crystals, and rocks with modern coding skills. Campers will embark on a tech-filled journey that fosters creativity and builds essential STEM abilities in a hands-on environment. Participants will engage in activities such as coding a Dino Tracker Game, creating Crystal Animations, and taking part in a Fossil Finder Adventure. They may also build mini-robots in the Rock Sorting Robotics activity and develop a digital timeline in the Timeline Code Quest, showcasing milestones in Earth's history.
